Foundation Seminar - $400

The Smith's Foundation Seminar teaches you the first steps in training your bird dog. Introduce your dog to birds, checkcord into live pigeons, develop Points of Contact for handling and standing still, teach your dog to heel, honor another dog's point and much, much more. This Foundation Level of training is the most important phase of training your bird dog. These seminars are geared to help bird dog owners develop a better relationship with their dogs, both at home and in the field. The Smith training format concentrates on animal behavior and reading what each individual animal is feeling. Over the course of the weekend you'll be able to improve your ability to read your dog's body language and understand his canine nature.

Intermediate Seminar - $800

The Smith's Intermediate Seminar builds upon the foundation laid in the first seminar and shows how to transition the mechanical cues of checkcords and Command Leads to the remote cues of the e-collar. We will go over the initial transition to the e-collar, as well as show you how to handle your dog in the field and during bird work with the low level cues of the e-collar. This stage is the onset of getting your dog steady on game. During this seminar, we will introduce the e-collar and begin using the e-collar to have our dogs honor another dog's point, and we will begin to gently "take chase" once the bird flushes. We will also begin to "take creep" on our dogs that are already standing and watching the bird fly off. This is the level at which we will begin to name commands (ie: "whoa," "alright," "hup").
